The Orbit, 1965
Cathedral High Schools

Fred R. Anderson

June 14/65

Dedication . . .

On February fifteenth of this year, 1965, we at Cathedral joined with our fellow Canadians in the raising of our old national colours, red and white, but in a new form — the new Canadian Maple Leaf Flag.

Although its acceptance was accompanied with much heated debate, not only in our Houses of Parliament but also among the Canadian people, it was accepted and now demands our respect for the heritage which fostered it and the future which it holds. We must all accept the challenges which it offers to each of us as individuals and to all of us as a nation in a mature and responsible manner for the greater development of ourselves and of Canada. However, we must not extend ourselves solely for personal or national gain, but rather for the extension of an international society.

Thus, we dedicate this yearbook, not to the new flag alone nor to the spirit of nationalism, but rather to Canada through each individual, all being represented by the new Maple Leaf Flag, in the hope that they recognize their responsibilities both to Canada as a nation and to Canada as a member of an international society for the advancement of mankind for the greater glory of our Creator.

Boys' High

The winds of change let in by 'Good Pope John' are blowing through the church. The winds of change as signified by our own Canadian Flag are blowing through the land.

Let us face this twofold challenge of a 'changing church' and a 'growing nation' and provide the leadership which they both demand.

Girls' High

"Aggiornamento," the key word of our late beloved Pope John XXIII for the Ecumenical Council has become the challenge of our world. In every area "the old order changeth." It is a formidable challenge for our young people – to achieve personal, social and religious fulfillment and to be involved in the struggle for a just and Christian world. This will require a degree of maturity which has not been demanded of earlier generations.

Graduates

Valedictory

This is not merely a time of rejoicing in the glory of achieving the first plateau of our Christian education. It is much more than that. It is a time of thank you to all those who have worked so diligently to help us in this regard.

The seed of knowledge was planted in us by God, nurtured by our parents, and tended by our teachers. Maturity is only one of the fruits reaped from the cultivation of this seed.

It is most difficult in the life of a student to cross the threshold between adolescence and maturity. We, the students of the graduating class of 1964, know that we have come of age but have we crossed the threshold and achieved the status of young adults?

The time has come for us to lay aside the hivolities of the young and begin to bear the burdens and responsibilities of mature men and women. As we enter this new phase in our lives, our actions will be the determining factors as to whether or not society will reciprocate by treating us accordingly. I believe that by showing the proper respect to both our superiors and our equals alike and that by our behaviour whether at public social activities, sports events, theatres or even in the privacy of prayer will be the standard by which the realization of this goal will be measured.

We are adults now, and we wish to be treated as adults. But we will never be respected as such unless and until we earn the right to be so respected. Our training to this period has given us the necessary background to earn the privilege of maturity. Now, it is up to us to use this knowledge and to demonstrate that we are worthy to be accepted as equals. What I have said has been said before: "When I was a child, I spoke as a child, I felt as a child, and I thought as a child. Now that I have become a man, I have put away the things of a child."

City Storm

Cloak of sticky moisture,
Numbing cold and milky fog.
Distant flashing dagger,
Resounding hollow rumbling log.

Resounding pummeling clattering
Lapping tinkling silver chain.
Stinging arrows from the sky,
Swishing shafts of shining rain.

Shimmering shining myriad beads
Slowly slithering over glittering concrete.
Gurgling gutter river to
Echoing swirling sewer leads.

City its bounds paces shortens not,
Nor stoops for Nature's sorrow,
But with ignorance casts its lot,
Dirty dreary borough.

Jack Kowalski 12-4

Gone

The beauty of a flower in my hand,
A name which written in the sand
Is crushed, destroyed — is gone
Yes, is gone. . .

The birds' sweet chirping in the air so soft,
The sunset over the lake so oft,
Has faded, vanished — gone
Yes, is gone. . .

The distant mountains that were once my lead,
Soft paths beneath my weary feet
Disappeared — are gone. . .
Yes, they're gone. . .

The stubborn hope which through my eyes has shown
Has gone, has left me all alone,
Yet, I must go on,
Yes, I must go on. . .

Authority

Authority.
What is it?
We do not have it.
No matter what we do or say, we will never have it.
There will always be some person, some human over us.
What is the use of trying to attain it?
Or for that matter rebelling against it?

Beauty

Mommy, see the wrinkled lady!
Looks just like a withered prune.
"Do not laugh or mock, my baby,
Mother will be like her soon!"

Mother, Mother, where's her beauty?
Surely it's not in her face?
"No, my dear, it's deep inside her,
Shining bright like new-made lace."

Mother, tell me, do they love her?
Dare'st they look upon her face?
"Yes, my love, for her great beauty
Is not besmirched by time's quick pace."

"We are young but once, my baby,
Youth is but a fleeting joy: —
A time to search, to seek, imploring,
Time its beauty ne'er to destroy."

But Mother time upon that beauty
Lays an unrestrained hand.
"Yes, but you may find, my loved one,
Beauty can be aught but grand."

Mother, is she wise, that lady?
Could you for naught her wisdom try?
"She has lived and loved, my baby,
Ever so much more than I."

Mother, see the lovely lady,
Beauty is as does, you see.
"Yes, I see, I know, my baby,
Beauty shall abide with thee."

Mon Cri

Donnez-moi un amour
Pour remplir ma vie vide,
Donnez-moi un amour
Pour passer les temps tristes,
Mes espoirs se flétrirent
Et chaque jour mon esprit
Meurt un peu par l'idée
De ma vie gaspillée.

Je désire une besogne
D'une grandeur immense,
Je désire une besogne
D'une exigence urgente.
Car je veux oublier
Ce qui vit dans mon coeur,
Ce qui crie, ce qui pleure,
Ce qui dit à l'esprit
Le défaut de ma vie.

Odile Ramaekers 13-1

Moment of Death

The day was April 13th, 1962. It was an unforgettable day; a day full of sorrow and strife; a day where death was as common as life; a day that blackened the annals of time.

By mid-morn, every citizen of the city knew what was coming. The radios had done a thorough job, but futile, of warning the people to flee. Still nobody but nobody could escape now. It was the same, whether one died in his own house or in the street. It was coming and there was no escaping from it.

Hurricanes are not frequent in Persia. The last one passed that way nearly two centuries ago, and then there were no casualties. But this hurricane, deeply engulfed in a storm, was approaching like a psychopathic killer; and would reach the city within twenty minutes.

The shrilling heralds soon proclaimed the city for the huge, dark mass of death which could now be seen in the distance. And as the humming giant crept towards the helpless victim, a darkness descended; the winds reached astronomical speeds, and the rain slashed the city with utmost cruelty.

And then it devoured the city.

There was instant chaos. The swift, hard-hitting winds knocked-out and picked-up everything that dared to block their path. People were insanely yelling, crying, wailing, moaning, praying — before they were silenced forever. Soon, from trees to houses, from beasts to men; all were destroyed. The hurricane lasted only a few minutes; but to some it was a lifetime.

The eye of the hurricane soon passed; the rage of the storm slowly decreased; eventually it died down. And as the sky cleared, only the rain fell quietly, washing the wounds of the helpless terrain.

Tibor Bitztriczky 12-4

Futility

I see a frozen bloodbath
Jellied o'er the banks of Somme,
I see the scattered aftermath
And wonder what was won.

I see a mangled body
Interwoven with the mud,
I see the colours gaudy
Of the filth and stench and blood.

I see a sort of face
That is left without his eyes,
I see the sordid place
Where the bullet took a prize.

I see the lips now hanging,
Pulled and torn by vicious hate
I hear the last cries banging
At the locks of heaven's gate.

And I believe, yes, I believe
That he has died in vain,
The world will never learn —
There will be war again.

Bernice Hastings 13-2

The Action of Life

Life is a vicious circle.
It starts at birth,
Where does it end?
It ends at death.

Maureen Lavery 11-1

A Visit to the Dentist or At Hyde's Place

I come into the spider's den,
He offers me a chair;
The chair is a padded pen,
To move I do not dare.

He approaches with a vicious grin
A pick-axe in his hand,
He knows that he will always win
Dad and him are hand in hand.

He pokes his pick-axe in a tooth,
I let out a mighty curse,
He jerks again on my poor tooth
And signals to the nurse.

I see that they are to drill;
Shivers ran down my back
They smile and chose the bigger drill,
And begin to amble back.

Although my mouth I do hold wide,
Until my jaws do ache,
Still he is not satisfied,
And sadly his head does shake.

First thing I see when I come to
Is his grinning evil face;
I realize I am not quite through,
And I am still in this horrible place.

He fills with cartloads of cement
The hole which he did drill
Ignoring all my best laments
Although they were quite shrill.

I thought before my pains were bad,
But now I saw the bill,
My steps were slow, my face was sad,
As I staggered o'er the hill.

Otto Herrmann 12-4

Trial Iron

The idea was right but the method was wrong,
Not many survived not even the strong.
Iron was heated until it was red
But instead of facing this they rather be dead
He had to carry this a hundred feet
Not many could stand the burning heat
If in three days his hands were healed
It was to prove his innocence real
If in three days they were burnt and such
He would pay the fine fine, but not very much.

Madlyn Joy 9-3

A Visitor

A guest came to my house today
And took possession of my home,
I could not close my door to him
Nor could I fight him all alone,
As now I face his grinning stare,
I wish to hide, I know not where.

He sees the wavering of my glance,
My trembling hands, my brimming tears,
He laughs at my uneasy mood,
And with a taunting voice he jeers
At my uncertain, awkward gait
Which tells him I am afraid.

For fear came to my house today
And I am in his strangling grasp,
I know that struggling is in vain
For none can flee his clammy clasp
My shrivelling limbs are limp and cold,
My world has crashed, my heart grown old.

Odile Ramaekers 13-1

Mélancolique

Les grandes rafales frappent
La vitre de la chaussée;
Et les cailloux y tapent,
Car ton coeur s'est refroidi.
C'est moi, pas toi, qui rêve fantastique,
Tout seul, navré, tout mélancolique.

Gémissements de la profonde douleur,
Amène le sens destructeur
Frissonnant je sens la sueur
Dégoutter du dedans de mon coeur.
C'est moi, pas toi, qui rêve fantastique,
Tout seul, navré, tout mélancolique.

Le ciel le seul témoin,
Venge-moi que je ne t'aie su?
Que tu me Haïssais plus,
Je ne t'aimais pas moins.
C'est moi, pas toi, qui rêve fantastique,
Tout seul, navré, tout mélancolique.

Joseph Patrick Sondola 12-4

Victory

A loud brass band,
The cheering fans,
The leading cheers throughout the years,
A winning team
That's on the beam,
Spells out with glee,
A VICTORY.

Through sixty-three and sixty-four
And sixty-five again once more
That blue and white
Did lead the fight,
Those solid boys
With cheers and noise
Through C and B and referees,
Did steal again
A VICTORY!

Phyllis Richard 10-6

Retrospection

I stood like a king, with sceptre in hand
Admiring his riches, possessions and land
But something was missing from this marvelous sight
The city seemed dark, it filled me with fright.

This city so big looked empty and homely,
What view so magnificent could appear dead and lonely
Its streets once filled with people and life
Were shattered and torn as if slashed by a knife.

Once there was laughter, happiness and joy;
What's happened to the city where I lived as a boy?
How could it have changed in these short years?
Where is its noise that first filled my ears.

This was my homeland I left during war;
The place that I grew in, the land I adore;
But now there is nothing, the city is gone,
As the tears fill my eyes I must turn to go on.

A Soldier to His Daughter

By the home's fire swings the sleeping sword,
And the silhouette that is my life illumined in its light,
Casts her soft eyes downward,
Faultness, fragile, and fearing fortunes spite.
What moral satisfaction pleasure,
How needfully attaining end,
When realizing to protect this treasure,
Tomorrow duty will demand we it defend.
River of fear rumbles through my heart,
Iron sword and slender silhouette blend,
And in tearing these contradictions apart
Aimlessly precious energies I expend
For thy sensuous young eyes' anxiety
Grant me crushing courage to conquer eternity.

Row on Row

I saw them standing row on row,
Those crosses of gleaming white,
Thousands upon thousands cut down the foe
While fighting for what was right.

Once they laughed; they enjoyed their life;
They were young, gay, and carefree.
Many had children and a loving wife
But they gave it up for thee.

They left the warmth and love behind
And grimly faced reality.
They must kill their own kind
In order to be truly free.

Where once the fields were a peaceful green
Pain and death now reigned:
And the still was shattered by the scream
Of a gallant soldier slain.

Amid the crash of shot and shell
They gave to us their all
And waded through a living hell
To answer freedom's call.

And so it was not long ago
God gathered to his breast
These men who lie there row on row.
They earned their hard-won rest.

Did you know....

...that 78% of Cathedral Boys did not know what a drape was? (the other 22% thought that it was a new fruit.)

...that there were over 450 students at Cathedral Boys as compared to 20 teachers? What were they waiting for? Today there are over 1600 students at Cathedral as compared to about 60 teachers. What are we waiting for?

...that through a thorough review by a board of experts it was determined that a student's appetite increased as well as his mental capacity? Could this be the reason why the cafeteria has been doing less and less business each year?

...that 85% of our students drove two-wheeled convertibles while of the remaining 15%, 5% owned their own hot-rods? Today only 80% of the students own two-wheeled convertibles and another 5% attempt to drive Hondas.

...that the Lone Ranger used floor wax to polish Silver?

...that the thinnest boy at Cathedral often evaded classes by hiding behind water pipes?

...that most people in Texas were Texans, and 95% of Mexico's population were Mexicans?

...that in a re-conducted survey it was found that the number of steps from Cathedral to the Chicken Roost is exactly 3367? That the number of steps from Cathedral to Gibson's still stands at 60?

...that several of our students parted their hair with a towel?

...that over 1000 hours were supposedly spent on homework each night by C.H.S. students?

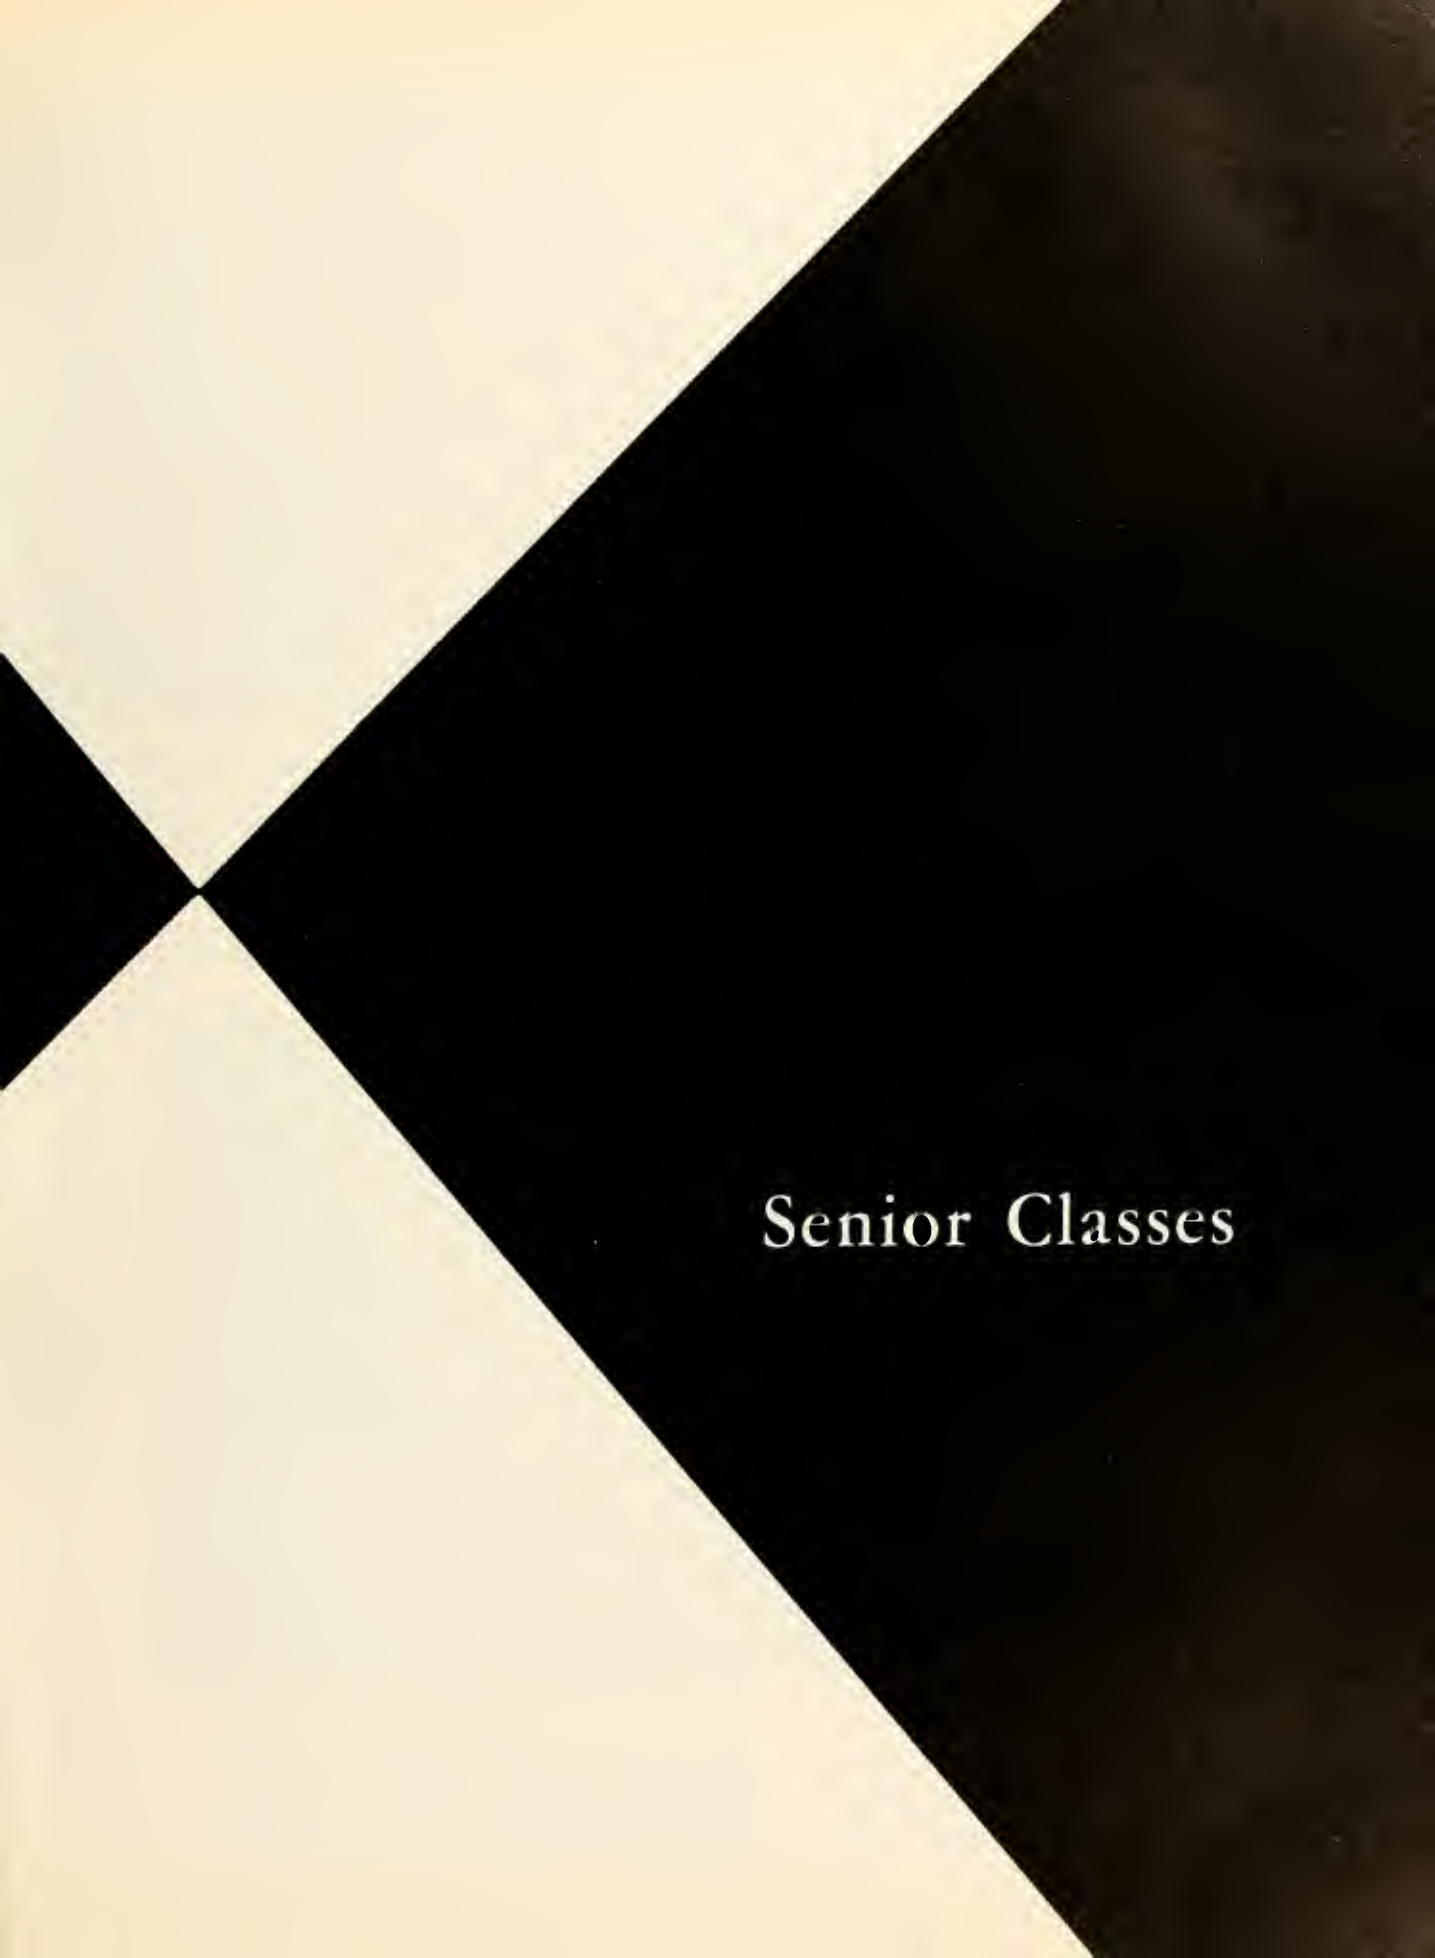

...that 40% of the students shaved with a rough towel (twice a year).

*H.I.A.C. All-Star

H.I.A.C. Most Outstanding Player

The "Galloping Gaels" of Cathedral High ran away with all the honours this season, crushing all opposition on their way to their second straight Senior Championship running their unbeaten streak to fifteen games. Mr. McPhee was the man who produced this paramount of power.

The team was a surprise because, although the backfield was first class, the line was uncertain at the beginning of the year; however, the linemen developed exceptionally well. Three hard runners, although not the fastest in the league, composed the biggest backfield in the history of the school. All-Star Dick Wesolowski, the best offensive back in the league, gained much yardage by quickly penetrating openings in the opposing line. Not only was All-Star Mark Mazza the best defensive player but as an offensive back powered his way through the centre of the line, knocking down potential tacklers. Ed Markowski, a triple threat because of his running, passing, and kicking, was the best all-round player in the league. When needed, Henry Wysocki adequately filled in for the big three.

These big backs were directed on the gridiron by quarterback Pete Rosser, who was an excellent field general. The greatest pass attack since Mr. Frank Cosentino, was provided by quarterback John Manel, and speedy flanker back Bob Birthelmer. This excellent running and passing gave the Gaels a balanced attack.

Protecting these backfielders was a small but very agile and quick-moving line which produced four All-Stars: Tony Bordonaro, Cathedral's Angleo Mosca; Laurie Kraftcheck, who pulled in passes when we needed them most; Bill Louch, a rookie up from the Juniors; and Mike Brophy, a rookie lineman whose versatility enabled him to play two ways and in many positions. Phil DeFrancesco, Bohdan Kowalyk, and rookies Dominic Rappazzo, and Pat Brandino were standouts on the offensive line.

Defensively Henry Kowalyk, and Saulis Zemaitis continually broke up enemy plays. The defense, which gave up only three offensive touchdowns in ten games, attained the best record in the school in ten years.

Mr. Tom Gallagher deserves much credit for his great work in developing the small line into a determined wall. All the members of the team played well when called upon to back up the starting line-up.

After considering the merits of his team Mr. McPhee commented, "It was the finest all-round team since 1953 and probably the best team that I ever had."

Victory seems inevitable when young men of Cathedral put on a blue and white uniform. The Junior Gaels have proven this by gaining their fifth consecutive City Championship, a league record. Just as he did in the preceding three years, Mr. Knuckle took a bunch of eager young men and turned them into a co-ordinated unit of determined football players.

The offence which lacked finesse and poise at the beginning of the season shaped up into a powerful machine with Nat Felice at the controls. Mike Scime and Joe Scott continually broke opposition tackles to get long yardage. Mike Jewell provided more inside power while John Capelli scooted around the ends for long gains. Jerry Simpson and Mike Walsh combined keen blocking and excellent pass reception in the end positions throughout the season.

Tony Perri and John Candiotta increasingly protected their backfielders with fierce blocking.

The defence, the best in five years, allowed only thirty points to be scored against them in nine games. Without error, defensive ends Bob Malloy and Tom Potter took away an outside threat. Along the line John Harper and Joe Chrolavicius warded off enemy linemen and hit opposing backfielders for losses.

The rest of the players who did their best wherever they were on the field, and assistant coaches Mr. Samson and Mr. Rapcewicz were indispensable. The Junior Gaels deserve much credit for their outstanding play this season.

"As our scores over the season indicate we became progressively stronger. It was a solid team as far as personnel goes and an admirable team in terms of enthusiasm, discipline, and desire." This summation of the Junior Gaels by Mr. Knuckle tells us why they again brought back a championship to Cathedral.

The second year of the Cathedral Cheerleaders has proved to be an even more successful year than their initial year. Led by Rhoni Hodson, these girls showed great enthusiasm whether it was at a football game or at a basketball game, and proved again that Cathedral excels in school spirit.

Cathedral's Cheerleaders should be commended for their hard-work during the season. Also, a note of thanks ought to be given to Miss B. McLoughlin, the teacher advisor, and to Theresa Mazza and Mary Jo Montani, for their invaluable help and assistance.

For the Cathedral Senior Gaels, this year's basketball season began in inspiring victory, but ended in disappointing defeat. Near the beginning of the season, the Gaels displayed their fine basketball ability, in a spirited and exciting victory over the City and presently the Ontario Basketball Champions, the Hill Park Rams. Ending the season in a tie with Westdale for second place, the Gaels continued to show their spirit and determination, but relinquished the right to enter the play-offs by losing two close, high scoring games against Westdale.

Father Kyran Kennedy took a team with few individual stars, and produced a well-balanced ball club. Aggressive centre, Dick Wesolowski, combined excellent driving, shooting, and rebounding, to earn himself a spot on the H.I.A.C. All Star Team. Gedas "Butch" Blekaitis, the best outside shooter in the league, was also named an All Star. In spite of their diminutive size, Dave Borsellino, a leading scorer, and Pete Rosser, an excellent playmaker, were great floor leaders. Vitas Beniušis, one of the key defensive men, and Dennis Reardon, one of the most improved offensive players, collaborated to control the backboards and provided accurate outside shooting. Great potential appeared in the uniforms of rookie Bob Pitt and the steadily improving Erio Gozzetto. John Oddi and Algi Kybartas spent most of the season incapacitated by injuries, but along with the late season acquisition, Jim Muldowny, they added to the overall good spirit of the season. Mr. Frank Cosentino helped Fr. Kennedy especially in teaching individual techniques and determining team strategy. Team managers, Terry Burr and John Manel also worked hard by calculating team statistics and physical arrangements.

Although they did not win a championship this year, the Senior Gaels deserve many congratulations because they always played their best whenever they were on the basketball court.

For the sixth year in a row, the Cathedral Juniors ended up in the finals running their victories to a total of five. It soon became apparent early in the season, that this typical Cathedral team was going to make league play a mere formality. After having lost one of their early league games, the Cathedral Juniors developed into a team which was termed by experts as "one of the best Junior teams the league has ever seen in many years." Truly, the Gaels proved that they were worthy of the praise and roared onto a 106-76 victory over Westdale.

Mr. R. Knuckle, their coach, said the Baby Gaels were an example of how good a team can be. Modestly, he credited much of the success to the coaches of the different members of the team in previous years.

In the play-offs against Westdale, the Juniors onceagain showed that there was nothing to stop them from capturing another championship. With a 25-3 lead at the end of the first quarter of the first play-off game, a difference emphasizing the gap separating this team from all others, Westdale was left in a difficult position. But the Baby Gaels did not stop there, but rather with a shooting average in excess of fifty percent, ran up a final 106-76 score. The Junior Championship was home to stay for another year.

Commenting on the team as a whole, Mr. Knuckle emphasized the terrific balance of the team — Jerry Simpson, Pete McPhee, and Al Smithson with excellent rebounding; Paul Mazza and Mark Walton and their A-1 outside shooting; Pete Hamilton with superb floor leadership; Bill Bogle, Ray Cupido, Vince Chetcuti, Tom O'Neal, and Tony Kybartas, excellent bench replacements proved that the Cathedral Juniors of 1965 were truly a championship team.

The spirit was there, the ability was there; the coaching was there, the championship is here.

The Cathedral Water polo team of 1965 turned in an amazingly sparkling performance considering the following facts that not one of the players had ever played Senior Water polo before, as a regular, and only five had ever played any water polo. Under the excellent coaching and guidance of Messers Art Sebastian and Ed Supyk, they were to the surprise of all, able to hold their own in a 3-2 loss to Hill Park and able to gain a hard earned win over Southmount and a tie with Westdale; the tie being attained with one less man than Westdale for three-quarters of the game. Only twice were they badly beaten, receiving a licking at the hands of the future championship contenders — Delta and Central. The season was not a victorious one, but Cathedral can be most proud of a fighting Squad which never let up and did their best in spite of all odds against them.

From the net out, they comprised a "never-say-die" squad. In goal, performing superbly in the face what was often a virtual firing squad was Alex Polgar. The solid defense was made up of veteran Dermot Nolan and the spectacular Paul Dicecca, backed up by Tony Merrolli. The other half of the rookie-of-the-year award, should be awarded to the strikingly polished Jim Hamon, who held the fort at rover. John Tuchtie was a solid bulwark at centre and the ace wing combination was made up of ex-defense man Gerry Gainer, whose powerful arm was the terror of the opposing goalies, and Adam DiFillipo, whose clutch goals were impressive, Marshall Elliott and John Tice were the powerful backers of this combination. Rounding out the team in excellent fashion were Pat Lashmar and Tony Buzzelli.

The team owes a debt of thanks to the hard-working coaches and the school owes thanks to the hard-working team.

ABSENT: Dan Connolly, Tom Cochren.

Once again, it looks like a "wait 'till next year" season for the Junior Gaels.

The team did not play well against the poorer teams, such as Westmount, but improved against the better teams, like Delta, whom they tied and defeated. Formerly, Delta had not been defeated in over two years. The Gaels ended up in fifth place, just two slots out of the play-offs. "The team was somewhat disappointing," said the coach Art Sebastian, "in that they just couldn't click." "On the whole, though, I have no real cause for complaint — they just gave it all they had." Mr. Sebastian was aided in his coaching by Adrian Ferry, a former player. We owe them both a great deal of thanks.

Al Palciauskas and Tom Irvine shared goaling duties, allowing only 2.7 goals per game. The rock-hard defense of Mike and Pete Keber was the best Cathedral had seen in years. This defense was powerfully backed in time of need by rover Tom Cochren. Co-captain Mike Dore was truly the ace centre of the league. Mike Ferry and Jim Brigger, also co-captains, scored 14 and 9 goals respectively, being the highest scoring combination in the league.

Backing the first string were two more teams composed of Bob Hamon, Paul Meyer, Ed Moreau, Dennis Collins, Danny Connolly, Bob Maton, Tom Kasprzyk, George Krasuski, and Jeff Gauthier.

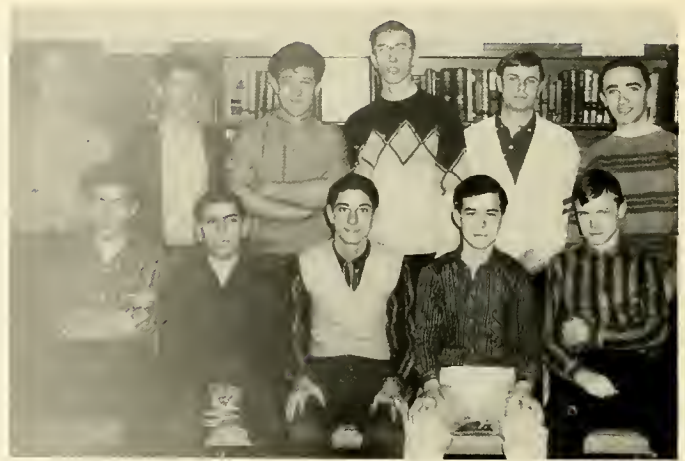

We hope that all last year's fans (?) will be at the games next year, along with many, many more to cheer the Junior Gaels on to the 1966 H.I.A.C. Water polo Championship.

Curling

This year's curling season didn't seem very impressive as far as the Cathedral Curling Team was concerned, but their standing didn't reflect their potential. The Cathedral rink was comprised of a fine first string comprised of Greg Warnick, Bill Crandall, Alan Liston, Jeff Gauthier, and John Catlin, backed up by an equally fine junior squad. With a nucleus of four of this year's players, next year's team should put forward a better showing.

The 1965 production of "King Lear" marked the 19th annual presentation by the Cathedral High School Players. In keeping with the tradition adopted by the Players, the Production was a success and an activity of which we can all be proud, due mainly to the hard and untiring efforts of Father John Hulley. Each night of the performance, there was a full house; a house which enjoyed a wonderful evening of Shakespearean Drama.

Dermot Nolan held the title role as the old and despotic King Lear. His moving mad scenes were complemented by the pathetic simplicity of Enzo Ucci, the Fool. Margaret Squissato and Becci Iarocci demonstrated excellent dramatic qualities, as Goneril and Regan. Vida Viatonis played the part of the loving daughter Cordelia to her utmost, a beautiful contrast to her sinister sisters. Jim Ricci exhibited fine acting ability in his portrayal of Edmund — the half brother of Edgar, played by Jack Kowalski whose possessions Edmund desired by any means available. Eric Reynolds portrayed the old Earl of Gloucester who is blinded by the Duke of Cornwall, George Cervinka. Joseph Sondola gave a commendable performance as the Earl of Kent.

Backstage, Paul Morely controlled things, and was assisted by Greg Hulley and Len Lottridge. Mr. John Pinnington and Mr. Paul McInnes deserve special thanks for their invaluable assistance in the designing of the set. Thanks are also in order to Mr. William Wade, who supervised the Make-up Department. Father D. McRitchie, who in his first year in helping out, deserves much credit for selling of tickets and the advertising of the Play. To Penny Eccleston and Marsha Sturrock and their wonderful staff goes our sincere gratitude for lovely costumes.

However, the play could not have been staged without the necessary help of all those who worked backstage so feverishly. In all, over 80 persons were involved in the cast and the production staff. To all these go our thanks.

To all who even in the slightest way had anything to do with the Play, congratulations are in order for a job well done!

The Orbit Staff

Mr. J. Rapsavage
Staff Advisor

Bill Watters
Editor

The aim of the 1965 "Orbit" staff has been originality. The whole staff worked long, tedious hours to achieve this objective.

The two boys' editors, Bill Watters and Gerry Fuchs, together with the head of the Advertising Department, George Luciani, formed the central core but they relied heavily upon the girls' editor, Kris Kurak, and a small but very efficient staff of assistants — Lillian Janus, Tom Ciancone, Diane Jurkowski, Joe Sondola, and Helen Michalak.

The various other departments — Business, Patrons, Photography, and Typing — provided the staff with the necessary materials to complete this endeavour.

This year's "Orbit" staff owes a great deal of thanks to Mr. J. Rapsavage for his expert guidance, to the principals and office staffs of both schools for their invaluable assistance and also to the individual students, Terry Burr, Manuel Chetcuti, and Ray Cupido, for their untiring interference and curiosity in this year's production.

Under the distinguished direction of Mr. W. Santor, the Cathedral Girls' High School Band has enjoyed another busy and successful year playing in concerts and in competitions.

During the summer, the girls performed on a floating barge on Gull Lake, and then went on to win first prize at the Canadian National Exhibition. On Thanksgiving weekend of last year, the band travelled to Detroit, Michigan where they gave a concert. They then returned home to start work on the Third Annual Bandorama, which grossed a net profit of $3,000.00. That same weekend, the girls were invited to play at the McMaster Homecoming.

Not only did the girls support their school football teams this year by playing at the final game, but they also supported their city team at the Tiger Cat Rally.

All in all, these girls have put their whole heart and soul into their playing and have won a fine reputation not only for themselves but for the Cathedral High Schools.

We should be justifiably proud of them and wish them much luck and success in the future.

Soft drinks in cans add to the fun.

Parties are more fun with cold soft drinks from cans! Your picnic cooler holds more because cans take so little space. Because metal is such a good conductor (check your science teacher on that!) soft drinks in cans cool fast. Open the can and you hear a w-o-o-sh of air that tells you this is fresh refreshment. Slip in a straw and sip from the can—or pour it into a glass. However you drink it, you'll enjoy soft drinks more from air-tight, light-tight cans. When you've drained every drop, just toss the empty into the trash container instead of hauling it back to the store. So next time—get soft drinks in cans.

What price education?

It is beyond price! Education cannot be bought, borrowed, or inherited. The only way to obtain it, is to earn it. Stelco recognizes its value, and the increasing need for it, in today's highly-competitive atmosphere . . . and also recognizes that specialized education is denied to many deserving young Canadians through lack of funds. This is why Stelco sponsors a program of assistance to universities, technical schools, and students across Canada, by providing awards, scholarships and bursaries in Technology, Engineering, Science, Business Administration, Teaching, Commerce, and Finance.

For further information on this program, or on a career in steel, write to Stelco's Head office in Hamilton, Ontario.

Westinghouse

CANADIAN WESTINGHOUSE COMPANY LIMITED

the history of an institution is essential to the present teachers and students if they are to have a complete appreciation of their school on the first catholic high school in hamilton was founded in september nineteen hundred and twelve this school was called st mary's high school since it was located at st mary's lyceum but it was later to be moved and then named to be changed then the rollment at this time was thirty five students taught by a grand total of five teachers after several staff additions had been made for the first year nineteen hundred and twelve four sisters and one priest attempted to cover a four year course in two years sm r bennett graduated of st michael's college was hired at one thousand dollars a year to teach the following twelve subjects of english english composition algebra geometry latin authors latin composition french authors french composition british history and ancient history in nineteen hundred and thirteen the first separate school field day was held at the haa ground in nineteen hundred and fourteen the first graduate and there was only one able to pass the course of the required subjects did graduate however after nineteen hundred and fourteen the number of graduates skyrocketed as years passed by eight in nineteen hundred and fifteen nine in nineteen hundred and sixteen and eleven in nineteen hundred and seventeen in nineteen hundred and seventeen house league hockey was played on the bay during the freezing weather of january after four pm while the more active students practised rifle shooting in the shooting gallery located in the attic of the school between the years nineteen hundred and thirteen to nineteen hundred and seventeen enrollment increased from sixty to one hundred and fifty one of the reasons for the small enrollment was the steady increase in drop out about this same time the girls high school also had two rooms in st mary's and the first six girls to pass the four year course graduated in nineteen hundred and nineteen thus in nineteen hundred and eighteen six students also graduated from the boys school in nineteen hundred and nineteen the boys graduates jumped to a total nine once again a record thirteen boys graduates in nineteen hundred and twenty were dismissed from st mary's but this was followed by only eight in nineteen hundred and twenty one in nineteen hundred and twenty one the boys high school at st mary's was moved to st patrick's parish where it would remain until nineteen hundred and twenty eight between the years nineteen hundred and twenty three and nineteen hundred and twenty four st mary's high school was changed to catholic high school the girls school receiving the same name but remaining at st mary's lyceum in nineteen hundred and twenty one the cathedral ral boys high school the girls school still located in st mary's in nineteen hundred and twenty two to overcrowding moved to st patrick's the attendance at the girls school was approximately one hundred and twenty in nineteen hundred and twenty eight by nineteen hundred and forty there were about one hundred and red students present at cathedral ral boys the two big extracurricular activities of the school were football and debating cathedral ral went seven years between nineteen hundred and twenty nine and nineteen hundred and thirty six without a defeat in the interscholastic debating league and the team which finally did defeat cathedral ral was composed of two ex cathedral ral debaters after these years debating declined and football replaced it in interest in nineteen hundred and thirty three the first student council was formed and then an egalopping gaels was decided as the nickname for all the cathedral ral teams in football basketball water polo etc the first lay woman on the staff came to cathedral ral boys in nineteen hundred and forty three to nineteen hundred and forty four to terminate nine hundred and forty three seven saw the first five girls to take grade thirteen classes with the boys in nineteen hundred and forty one to nineteen hundred and forty two cathedral ral attained a double championship in hamilton high school basketball league in nineteen hundred and forty six to nineteen hundred and forty seven the first production of the cathedral ral high school players was performed that same year cathedral ral girls high school had to expand into st ann's school due to the lack of room in st patrick's in nineteen hundred and forty eight the warm memorial now in the main hall of the boys school was dedicated in nineteen hundred and forty eight also marked the year cathedral ral boys first made use of a public address system by nineteen hundred and fifty there were four hundred and ninety nine boys attending cathedral ral between nineteen hundred and twenty eight to nineteen hundred and fifty one the cathedral ral boys had entered the priesthood on september ninth in nineteen hundred and fifty one then new wing was added to the boys school and this new wing was dedicated to deceased former students who had died in war during the year preceding nineteen hundred and fifty one the cathedral ral girls school was located at st patrick's in nineteen hundred and fifty one they utilized several of the rooms in the boys new wing until the girls school was opened in nineteen hundred and fifty five thus making the girls present building ten years old this year however the history of the cathedral ral boys and girls schools does not stop here but rather new knowledge is added daily month by month year by year in nineteen hundred and sixty five has seen the addition of another new wing this time to the girls school and also the breaking of some more records in sports for cathedral ral as of this year was the only school in hamilton to achieve a double championship in football two years in a row and a fifth straight junior football championship as of nineteen hundred and sixty five there were eighty three in one thousand and six hundred and fifty students in the cathedral ral boys and girls schools respectively
